

Megan Lencoski Bio

Megan Lencoski serves as the Nonprofit Development Specialist at Carnegie Investment Counsel, where she helps organizations strengthen their fundraising efforts and better connect their mission to long-term financial sustainability.

With a background of over 13 years in the nonprofit sector, Megan understands the challenges of engaging donors, supporting boards, and building consistent revenue streams. She works closely with nonprofit teams to provide practical guidance, tools, and ideas that may enhance development efforts and simplify complex processes.

At Carnegie, Megan supports clients beyond investment management by helping them explore strategies such as donor education and stock donations, while also serving as a resource for fundraising planning and execution.
